Illinois State University
Authorization to Name the ADM Lecture Hall

The College of Engineering respectfully requests naming the lecture hall at 1709 GE Road as the ADM Lecture Hall. This naming reflects and recognizes the generous financial commitment by ADM for the College of Engineering.

Archer Daniels Midland (ADM) has been a strong, highly engaged supporter of Illinois State University since 1982. ADM has established numerous funds for facilities, programs, faculty fellowships, undergraduate research, registered student organizations, and scholarships. They are a top twenty employer for Illinois State University graduates and have several alumni in leadership positions within the organization, including three senior regional leaders.

Representatives from ADM serve on both the College of Engineering and College of Business Advisory Boards. ADM also participates in Career Services programs as a corporate partner and has consulted on a workforce analysis for the College of Engineering. ADM currently has one named space on campus, a classroom in the State Farm Hall of Business.

ADM's financial commitment to the College of Engineering will allow faculty to provide state-of-the-art lecture experiences. As a result, we propose naming the lecture hall the ADM Lecture Hall.
